

Lesson 16: The Black Attention

The black attention is among other things, the ghouls' surveillance and control of our humanity and our thoughts, via the Matrix system. At first I thought the ghouls built the Matrix but later it was explained to me that the Matrix is manifestation of us all, a part of the intrinsic nature of 3-D. It is an enormous structure, the largest structure in the world, I imagine. And as you may know and as some of you have seen, it is a honeycomb web or net that one usually sees in one's mind's eye. The strange thing that I only discovered just recently is that the Matrix web is above us like a dome, or it is seen in front of us as a net, but it is also inside our bodies as a mesh.

I saw a vision of a very muscular man and I could see inside his body and the Matrix net was intertwined with his muscles, sinews and bones, so it seems to be inside and outside you. That explains why conformity and the anal dullness of humanity are so easy to impose. You will remember that I said spirituality and originality are linked, and that trudging to the drum of the collective mind-set is like alien abduction, you make little forward progress. The system owns you.

You can see how the black attention of the ghouls, their mind-set if you like, could flick an idea down the Matrix web and have it inside 300 million voters in a flash (subconscious spam), and suddenly they are all agreeing to torture, war and state-sponsored violence and they are keen on it, while being aggressive and nasty towards others that resist that dark impulse. It is interesting how the Matrix net inside human flesh could be used to exert a mass mind-control. I always wondered how it might be done.

I thought the dark went individually one-on-one with the ghouls talking to each person's mind and while that occurs for sure, I now can see how a mental spam could go along the Matrix that is inside people's bodies and instruct a whole nation to follow one's madness or another. It is not an override of human free will it's just tickling the darkness that is already inside people so that they will all vote for a modern Hitler and agree to anything. That is why there is no justice; the pulse of injustice and cruelty rules the inner Matrix waves.

I haven't been shown how we break the Matrix that is inside our bodies but it seems to me quite obvious in that once you travel out of the Matrix via Ayahuasca or the Morph, and once you stand inside a holy sacrament of your making, then the net inside falls. It has to, as you are now beyond the control of the ghouls. Of course, you have to process your shadow or none of it works but almost everyone in the Redeemer's Club package is doing that as far as I can tell and by reading the emails the people send in.

Humans that are abducted inwardly by the ghouls without necessarily knowing it express a deep inner pulse of nastiness or hatred, and they act as the sentinels of the ghouls because in essence they belong to the ghouls. They are part of the ghouls' attention over humanity and sometimes they are the watchers on street corners, listless humans that act as the eyes of the ghouls. The ghouls can triangulate your position by using the sight of the human watcher as a reference point. Sometimes the watcher will point at you. The first time that happens you will be surprised, it comes out of the blue. The attention of the watchers is very dark because it is an agenda of control, snooping and interference. Dark energy pulses are bounced off them to other humans, it's all very clever.

The need to watch is an inner evil, a fascination with control. It is the nosey parker within us. Another example is the use of technology as a heightened form of surreptitious control; I like the term techno-fascism it is very apt. It is the black attention made manifest in the hands of the authorities. Eavesdropping, wiretaps and Internet surveillance and so forth, and eye scans and RDIF chips that now monitor the movement of goods will eventually monitor us, and vast databases and millions of cameras that read you car's number plate, and ID cards, and misinformation fed to the populace to instill a perpetual low-grade fear.

These are acts of ghoulish humans reveling in what the transdimensional ghouls want, total lock down, conformity; an anal society in a self-imposed trance, trotting along as subservient drones of the system. You can rile against it but there is no point, this is our karma now and we have to accept it. But you can leave or at least try to work your way out, bit-by-bit. Part of what I am showing you in these lessons is how to create an energy inside you so that you can make a run for it under the very noses of the transdimensional ghouls with your middle finger up in the air for added balance!

In Britain there are over a million laws passed by Act of Parliament on the statue books, so one law for every fifty-eight Brits and they are also subject to a few hundred thousands European laws so there is one law for every forty-eight people in Britain. Then add the local council regulations and the parking regulations and the health and safety rules and the farming laws, the schools' regulations and the universities' codes of practice and the broadcasting guidelines and the transport policy and the legal apparatus and its code of practices and the police and its codes, and then if you want to go to a pub for a bit of respite there are a whole bunch of rules governing that activity and if you get sick of it all there are loads of medical rules and forms and blah, blah... and if you accidentally fall in love, your partner will have all of his or her rules.

You can see it is cat's cradle of control, a demonic possession of humanity pushed from within and it is that dementia that constructs the black sacrament, like the Eucharist, or welfare and the old age pension that traps the poor, or the peace-keeping force that are really killers while pretending to help people, in the end it is all to do with the insanity of control. And the energy that is given to the put down of humanity and the control exercised over them is the black attention - its evil's gaze over us, its desire for itself, its chronic self-congratulation, its self-importance, its disdain and the injustice it offers one and all.

It is really quirky when you think about it, humans you have never met who know nothing about you, control every second of your life. This darkness is natural because there is no respect, this is the ghouls' world not our world, and then, it is important to remember and know that the dark always passes, it always runs out of energy, in earth terms it goes bankrupt, or the nation is crushed and defeated. Evil is preprogrammed to destroy itself, which is the process the world is entering right now - the death of the global-ego, as I call it. So there is hope.

What is mind boggling is that people don't even escape once they die, for once a person is trapped in the conformity of a mind-set they are trapped in the afterlife, they drift to that part of the Mirror-World that is the same as what they knew here. Imagine how scary millions of dead Catholics might be? Spooky-dookie. Goodness knows how long people are trapped maybe ten thousand years or more. Then there are all those spirits that are earthbound that don't get away after death that linger around as phantoms and ghosts and evil entities that clunk around old houses, and there are millions of entities in the forests, including some bizarre quite human-looking beings with dark raccoon eyes. How they got there I have no idea.

It's the human mind that generates the power of the evil residue. For it is driven by fear and the ego's need to impose itself, which as you know comes from a yearning for immortality. The desire for human immortality is a ghouls' trait. The mind calculates that if it is better than others or over them, then it is separated from ordinary humans, and the destiny of ordinary people is to die, while the important "decider", the lawgiver, is raised in the illusion that his or her destiny is different to the collective destiny, and that he or she will last forever, or at least as long as the Reich does – one thousand years. That is why making laws is addictive to the ego, it is an illusionary death-avoidance mechanism.

We have an audio on the inner and outer Matrix (The Matrix and the Morph) so there is quite a bit of information there, essentially, we are surrounded by two bands of evil and they are like two fences you have to cross to get out. You go across one into a 'no man's land' and then a while later (usually several months), you cross over the next fence, it is like going across the center of the letter A. The fences are not parallel to each other but more it is as if they are at 45 degrees like the two main lines of an A.

The inner Matrix is a body of floating minds in the collective unconscious. Some of those evil minds belong to people that have died and some of the inner Matrix is made up of the roving minds of people still alive. They attack by degrading your hopes and dreams and they can offer you visions that are inaccurate that chisel away at your confidence. If you have ever seen the 'flashy faces' I talk about as you begin to meditate that is you going past the inner Matrix. You'll see twenty faces quickly one after the next then you are past them and they melt away. So, many of you have already seen the inner Matrix without realizing what it was.

The outer Matrix is all the transdimensional beings, and we've documented about forty different kinds. It's the Greys and the reptiles and the UFOs and the raccoon people and all the forest beings, trillion upon trillions of them, humans are rare here compared to them. For example, there is a group that is as tall as children of about thirteen or fourteen years old that look like they are wearing parkas with hoods over their heads. They live around wood piles, very odd. We don't know if they are benign or not, but the raccoon ones are very evil. And then there are all the devils and imps of the digital-fractal worlds like the Lord of Cruelty and impish ghouls that jump from person to another that are often cube-shaped, we all have a few inside of us because we have all had a darkness inside that we allowed and tended to over the years.

But you shouldn't worry and anyway we are on a process to get rid of them. You will probably see them clear as day if you get to the Ayahuasca ceremonies and the shamans usually know how to get them out, but first you have to reconcile your shadow and complete that or the ghouls jump right back in again. Usually they are nestled between your navel and the pubic bone or in the upper chest area between your sternum and your throat. Some people have two entities, one in the downstairs department and one in the upper level, the penthouse suite. Then others have a host of them attached to every part of their body holding on.

The ghouls drive one to evil and they talk to the human mind offering degradation and violence and suicide and whatever manner of mayhem they can get you to listen to and accept. If you are an ordinary person, a human drone they don't put a lot of effort in but if you are more influential or a lawmaker then the ghouls come around and make you their special prey.

That is why the desires of voters is never given a look in for the ghouls drive the government bus and they won't allow for any liberation or freedom or the relaxation of laws of control or lower taxes or less red tape etc. I don't believe there are any people in power that have not been got at unless that person were a saint or a Gandhi type that had no need for specialness and recognition and the power trip of it all. The desire to be in power is the very cause of their abduction because if they were holy and good they would not enter politics and its corruption in the first place.

It is like the desire to operate a rifle and kill people at long range, which appeals to macho boys that join the army as a fulfillment of the dream of power and the attention that a hero gets. It only appeals to those that are powerless that have a loveless life that need to fix the ego-trip of wanting attention and power. If you stick a gun up someone's nose they attend and respect you double-quick. The disease of it is all made right with waffle about serving one's country and protecting citizens but it is in effect the killer's mentality; the organized descent of the psychopath to the gates of hell. It's a death sentence for the soul as it carries one off to the dimensions of cruelty from which there seems to be no easy escape.

The black attention and the cult of the Chosen One is closely linked for in the desire for immortality there is also the need for specialness, the Aryan people, the Chosen people, the good ol' boys, the members of the party apparatus, or the church whose congregation will be raised up by Jesus while all the other humans are left behind.

You might wonder how these mad ideas take hold but you can see how if the ghouls talk to the elitist sentiment in people's minds they can get people to believe anything and operate a gas chamber if needs be.

The black attention protects itself like a secret society, and it denies advancement to anyone that threatens the control mechanism of an organism's environment - the environment of a corporation say. You don't get a promotion, as the black attention will be out ahead of you making sure you are disallowed, discarded or fired. So if you have been very frustrated in your forward progress that might well explain it all. To make it you have to allow the ghouls to abduct you and carry you into the overall mechanism of their attention so that you become part of it, part of the overall system of control. If you are against the ghouls then you act as a subversive to be gotten rid of, or at least hindered.

The ghouls also attend when you are making a run for it as camp guards might if a prisoner tries to escape. It is an affront to their system and its integrity. So you have to face the ghouls and the further you go along this path the more intense their attention becomes. The trick is not to be scared of them and to love them and ridicule them at the same time. That shows them that you don't belong to them and eventually they back off. But don't count your chickens too soon as they always come back. Eventually you may get the tick-tick formatting sound in your ear and that is a small dome being built over you that looks like an igloo of red neon poles. Once you get the igloo it is sort of over from the outer Matrix's interference though you can still get a bit of bother from the inner Matrix.

There are trillions of beings here that are not human, this is their world not our world. Then the Goddess comes with her blessed Morph and she teaches us how to run for it and be original, and she wraps up the ghouls and then I think a cataclysm happens, like a pole shift, I can't say for sure but it makes sense. If the cataclysm wipes out almost all the humans there is no more etheric food for the ghouls and so the ghouls degrade to stillness, not dead, just inactive beings in hibernation.

Then human populations grow from the survivors and eventually the ghouls have enough heat to wake up and we'll all incarnate again and give 'em another whack in the head with a brick and so on and so forth through all time. Once we learned how to make a run for it and once we were not scared anymore, the ghouls' gig was over Rover, finito – the writing on the wall, Last Chance Saloon, the final whistle and "...thus it was written and so it shall be done." Stuffed.

"Smiling man, smiling."

Sincerely, Stuart Wilde
